Sec. 5. This Act shall be effective upon enactment. Examiners-in-chief in office on the date of enactment shall continue in office under and in accordance with their then existing appointments.

PURPOSE OF AMENDMENTS

All of the amendments are of a perfecting or clarifying nature. Most of the amendments provide for necessary revisions in title 35 to conform that title to the provisions of this legislation.

PURPOSE

This bill, as amended, provides for several miscellaneous amendments of title 35, and for an adjustment of the organization of the Patent Office within the Department of Commerce.

STATEMENT

There has been an increase in the number of situations where a patent applicant has failed to make timely payment of the issue fee. Section 151 of title 35 authorizes the Commissioner of Patents to accept a late payment upon a showing of sufficient cause only if the late payment is made within 3 months of the due date. In some situations the failure to make the payment was unavoidable and private bills have been introduced to direct the Commissioner to accept the late payment. The amendment of section 151 contained in this legislation would eliminate the necessity for such bills by giving the Commissioner authority to accept a late payment upon a showing that the delay was unavoidable.

Under the existing section 3 of title 35 there are 19 positions in the Patent Office which require Senate confirmation. No useful public policy purpose is served by this procedure. The bill would eliminate the requirement for the Senate to give its advice and consent to the position of Examiner in Chief of the Patent Office and would require Senate confirmation only of the Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner, and the two Assistant Commissioners.

The Patent Office currently is confronted with substantial administrative problems. While the Congress had not yet completed action on the legislation for the general revision of the patent law, it is apparent that no major change will be made in the current patent examining system. Because of the rise in the number of patent applications, the complexity of many inventions, and the long delay in the disposition of many applications, there is an urgent need for the most efficient administration of the Patent Office and clear policy responsibility in the Commissioner of Patents.

The bill provides that the number of assistant secretaries of Commerce shall be increased from seven to eight by the establishment of the position of Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Patents and Trademarks. The Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Patents and Trademarks shall, ex officio, be the Commissioner of Patents. The Patent Office, with 2,701 employees, is one of the largest functioning components of the Department of Commerce. The Congress has previously provided that such other components of the Department, as the Travel Service, with 73 employees, and the Maritime Administration, with 1,708 employees, should be headed by an assistant secretary.

The committee is aware that the President has recommended the abolition of the Department of Commerce and the incorporation of many of its functions, including the Patent Office, in a Department of Economic Affairs. It is currently uncertain what action may be taken by the Congress on this proposal. In any event, the committee believes that the urgent administrative problems confronting the patent system make it advisable that favorable action be taken at this time on section 4 of S. 1254.

SECTIONAL ANALYSIS

Section 1(a) of the bill, as amended, enumerates the officers of the Patent Office and makes a number of changes in section 3 of title 35. The current position of "first assistant commissioner" would be known as "deputy commissioner." It is provided that the Commissioner of Patents, the deputy commissioner, and the two assistant commissioners shall be appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. The current requirement for Senate confirmation of the Patent Office examiners in chief is eliminated. The Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Patents and Trademarks shall, ex officio, be the Commissioner of Patents. Subsections (b) and (c) of section 1 of the bill retain existing language in section 3 of title 35 relating to the authority of the Secretary of Commerce over the functioning of the Patent Office and the authority of the Secretary to fix the compensation of the examiners in chief.

Section 2 of the bill, as amended, amends section 7 of title 35 relating to the composition of the Board of Appeals of the Patent Office. The only change made in the existing section 7 is the inclusion of the "Deputy Commissioner" among the members constituting the Board of Appeals.

Section 3 of the bill, as amended, amends section 151 of title 35 so as to provide in subsection (d) thereof authority for the Commissioner of Patents to accept late payment of the issue fee when the "delay in payment is shown to have been unavoidable." The existing section 151 authorizes the Commissioner of Patents to accept late payment upon a showing of sufficient cause if the payment is submitted within 3 months after the due date.

Section 4(a) of the bill, as amended, provides for the creation of an additional Assistant Secretary of Commerce who shall be known as the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Patents and Trademarks. Subsection (b) of section 4 amends section 5315 of title 5 to increase from seven to eight the number of Assistant Secretaries of Commerce. Subsection (c) of section 4 amends section 5316 of title 5 to eliminate a reference to the post of Commissioner of Patents.

Section 5 of the bill, as amended, provides that the bill shall become effective upon its enactment, and that examiners in chief in office on such date shall continue in office in accordance with their existing appointments.
